

It's all about competency;
having it, validating it,
maintaining it, and leveraging it for the benefit of one's self,
one's employer, and
the progression of the pharmaceutical industry.

Certified Pharmaceutical Industry Professional™ (CPIP™) Certification Program

During these economically challenging times, and as our industry continues to consolidate, the CPIP™ certification program credential is a key for industry professionals to unlock greater career opportunities. The CPIP certification program credential represents an international competency (knowledge and skills) standard.

Do you have less than seven years experience?

Use the certification as a professional development pathway to build a bridge from academia to the intricate business of developing drug products and bringing them to market through manufacturing.

More than seven years experience?

The credential can be a solid testament to your accumulated experiences, knowledge and ability to apply innovative thinking and solutions.

Employers

Do you require contemporary pharmaceutical industry knowledge and skill competencies of your employees and service/equipment providers? The credential confirms competency based on a global industry standard. Request CPIPs on your next project team.

Service/Equipment Providers

Are you looking for that competitive advantage? Set your services apart from others ... propose CPIPs on your project teams to confirm you have the most qualified staff.
